YES

If yes, please mention the module and suggestions

In this course, two entirely different fields (Complex Analysis and Measure theory) have been combined which makes the course difficult to teach for a single teacher. So, I would suggest splitting the course into two different courses.

Yes

The course needs revision of most of the module. According to lectures the course should be designed.....

Any other specific comments including program revision if any:

The student lost interest due to lengthy topic. In fact splitting the syllabus in O.R-1 and O.R.-2 would be better. O.R. nowadays is everywhere and applications increasing day by day. We should make the students study the latest topic in this field. The syllabus was very much outdated and not updated.
